

Non-native English Speaker Perspectives on Programming

An Interview of Javier Nexcicatan by Leslie Johnson

1

What entices you to attend a program?
What holds you back?

2

Is there certain verbiage that needs to be on a flyer? Or are flyers even needed?

Not great flyer

Better flyer

4

If marketing materials aren't translated, do you assume that no translation is available? Or are you comfortable requesting that accommodation? Would other people you know be willing to ask?

Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 & Nebraska

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln gives public notice of its policy to uphold and assure full compliance with the non-discrimination requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and related Nondiscrimination authorities. Title VI and related Nondiscrimination authorities stipulate that no person in the United States of America shall on the grounds of race, color, national origin, sex, age, or disability, be excluded from the participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance.

Where are you most likely to hear about programs? How should we market our programs? Or how do we encourage more word of mouth?

7

You and I have talked about various levels of fluency. You speak and understand English very well, but at what point do you prefer to switch back to your native language?

8

Do you have any other advice for someone planning a program?
